Blog Test 1

In the past five years, as the platform and its audience grew, so have the landscape and strategies of fact-checking work transformed. For one, more and more fact-checkers, including Factnameh, are creating multimedia content to reach more audiences through podcasts, videos and on social media platforms where misinformation thrives. At the same time, strengthening digital and media literacy and basic fact-checking skills among internet users has become increasingly critical as online misinformation proliferates and frequently resurfaces.
